THE RAB ADVENTURE

Alien County Public Library
900 Webster Street
PO Box 2270
Fort Wayne, IN 46801-2270

Jay Henry congratulates Homecoming Queen Judi Finch.

Daughters and dads have a ball at GAA Dad's Night.

Hearing about a school function in homeroom or reading about an activity in the HIGHLIGHTS cannot replace the feeling of pride gained from participating in the Homecoming festivities or from appearing in the Talent Show.

"Happiness Is" . . . a Student Council Mixer.

Tom Edwards and Nancy Winter enjoy their final high school prom.

Tom Loudin, member of La Belle Brass, performs in the Talent Show.

THE ADVENTURE IN SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

Nick Pumilia perfects his form on the rings.

Dan Youngberg hurls the discus at the East Relays.

Senior Brad Monti strives for a faster time in the freestyle.

The tenseness of the wrestler's match is reflected in the faces of Kent Dahlstrand, Tom Hannah, Roger Whittington, Coach Gary Giardini and Dave Fuller.

Scoring the winning point or earning a Big 8 title does not always make a champion;
a real athlete sacrifices personal glory
for team acclamation, exhibits dedicated sportsmanship and appreciates supporting fans.

Along with Freeport's co-captains and the referee, Glenn Miller and Joe Latin watch the coin which will decide their position at the beginning of the game.

Chris Plager stretches to out-jump his Boylan opponent for the opening tip-off.

Jubilant E-Rabs greet their victorious football team after the last game.

THE ADVENTURE IN SPORTS

A free ball heightens P.E. class activity.

Rab football stickers crop up all over East.

Bob Sitrick's wait in the lunch line finally ends.

Gail Gulatto receives help from her earth science teacher Mr. Paul Warner.

School life involves more than passing a test or solving an equation; it includes assuming responsibilities, waiting for lunch, proudly displaying an E-Rab sticker—identifying with East.

THE ADVENTURE IN SCHOOL LIFE

Enthusiastic Rabs Cheer as the cagers score a basket.

Jack Knutson, Jan Christenson and Chris Kruger discuss a sports story in the HIGHLIGHTS.

Chuck Peterson and Dean Almquist make an "important" phone call after school.

Sharing mutual interests stimulates friendships; mere acquaintances become friends as students learn to know each other while walking home from school, cheering for their team and talking together.

When the 3:40 bell rings, Rabs pour out the doors.

Hoping for a victory, Rabs set out for Guilford in the motorcade.

THE ADVENTURE IN FRIENDSHIP

Seniors Tom Johnson, Robin Meader, Susi Fariss, Jay Henry, Kim Carlson and Rick Holmertz finish a quick ride around town.

Ruby Bergstrom delivers an order to a drive-in customer.

Young Life Director Lee Maxwell leads group singing at a meeting.

A Rab's life extends beyond the school doors;
it also consists of gathering for a Young Life meeting, socializing at Frankie's and working in the community.

Pizza making occupies Gary Aagesen's after-school hours.

Getting together after a basketball game, Jan Nordenberg, Sue Johnson, Nancy Winter and Linda Fosse rehash the action.

THE ADVENTURE IN THE COMMUNITY

Before a pep assembly solemn students recite the pledge of allegiance.

Chris Plager gloatingly carries off Jay Henry during the Publications kick off.

Familiar faces
reflect enthusiasm mirrored by the winning smiles of coach and player, sparkling in the eyes of an eager cheerleader
and radiating from amateur performers in an assembly skit.

Anxious team members watch action on the field.

THE ADVENTURE IN EXPRESSIONS

Anyone who has ever attended East might reminisce about the building or the traditional diploma;
but only this year's E-Rabs will remember the computer that "went on the blink" or the senior-sponsored goof ball sales.

The diploma—symbol of a student's completion of the Rab Adventure.

Goofballs smiled over many Rab dashboards.

Computerized confusion invaded East's schedules and report cards.

Band hats symbolize fund raising success.

THE ADVENTURE IN SYMBOLISM

Darkened classrooms, deserted halls, everyone's gone . . .
a Rab walks through the empty school;
he ponders the year that is past—scattered memories of good times, valued friendships,
learning and maturing,
participating and cooperating
as a member,
as an individual,
as a Rab—
remembering . . .

7-2 Season Mark

After splitting two non-conference outings, East's '67 varsity gridders piled up a 6-1 league record to earn a share of the 1967 Big 8 title along with Boylan and Guilford.

Dropping their first game of the season to Dubuque Walhert 12-7 the Rab's bounced back to defeat Mundeline Carmel 7-6. Poor offensive timing and a weak pass defense seemed to be the Rab's biggest problems as they headed for their first conference game.

The opener saw the Rab's fall 13-9 to the experienced Vikings in the heartbreaker that proved to be the only conference loss of the season. Individual hard work and a strong team spirit helped the sputtering Rab's defeat a strong Boylan team 10-7 for their first Big 8 victory.

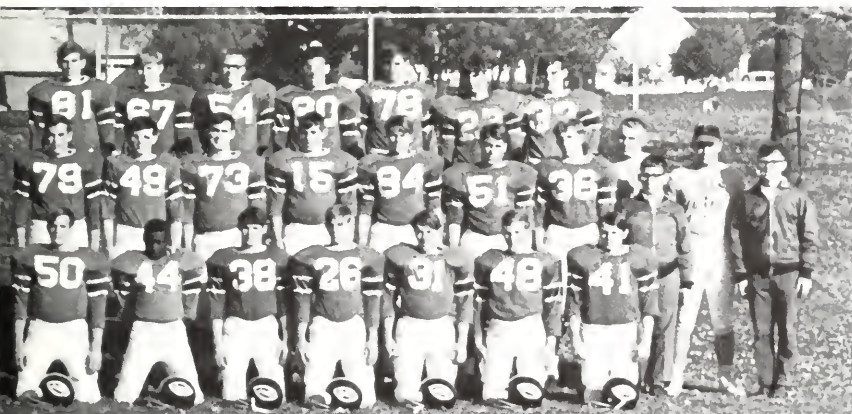

A 77 yard run by halfback Joe Latin and a last minute goal line stand by the hard-nosed East defense gave the Rab's a 6-0 win over Belvidere. In a defensive masterpiece the determined Pellantmen dropped West 7-0.

Hosting Auburn for Homecoming, the Rab's ran up a 16-0 victory highlighted by the kicking of Jim Valentine who booted three field goals and a PAT. At Harlem East overcame a 13-0 deficit at the half, to score three TD's and drop the Huskies 21-13.

Displaying their finest offensive attack of the year, the Rab's rolled over Freeport 27-6 in the last game of the season.

Head Coach Bob Pellant and defensive middle line-backer Glenn Miller discuss last minute strategy during the Guilford game.

Rab Grid Teams

Veteran tackle and place-kicking specialist Jim Valentine warms up his talented toe with Mike Johnson holding before the Auburn game.

Success was the word for the '67 gridiron season as all three Rab teams earned first place titles in the Big 8. In a combined season record of 23-2, the only losses were the varsity contests against Dubuque and Guilford.

This year's success was a direct result of joint team efforts and the great individual contributions of certain players. Varsity standouts this season included returning letterman, Jim Valentine, All Conference and All State Tackle and placekicker; Joe Latin, All Conference halfback; Gary Seaquist, All Conference center; and Dan Lafferty, All Conference defensive end.

Voted by their teammates as Most Valuable Players were Latin and Valentine. Joe, mainstay of the Rab offense, piled up 509 yards rushing, averaging 4.4 yards per carry to make him the fourth leading scorer in the Big 8. Kicking four field goals and ten PAT's, Jim showed equal talent as tackle in the strong Rab defensive line. Jim was also chosen as Co-Captain with defensive linebacker and work-horse fullback Glenn Miller.

This year's coaching staff included a new addition, Gary Giardini, who assisted head coach Bob Pelant and assistant coach Jerry Stalcup with the varsity squad, and directed the J-V's through a perfect season, for the first undefeated J-V team in East's football history.

"Spirit and determination were our keys to success," commented Coach Ben Compagnoni on East's first undefeated sophomore football team.

The 1967 Rablets also earned a second consecutive Sophomore Big 8 crown. Last year for the first time East's soph gridgers earned the title, sharing it with Boylan.

Leading the offensive attack, Brad Lofgren scored 14 touchdowns and kicked 20 PAT's for 104 points. Bruce Haselton scored 12 touchdowns for 72 points, and Alan Stewart had 6 touchdowns for 36 points. Quarterback Russ Foley connected for nine touchdown passes and was aided by the blocking of center Bob Friberg, end Dean Almquist, guard Gerald Pollock and tackle Larry Powers.

East's offensive effort was the best in the conference with an average of 29.1 points per game. The tough Rablet defense also topped the league by holding opponents to 5.7 points per game. Safety Brad Swenson, linebacker Lou Penzi and end Dave Cox were standouts on defense.

Assistant Coach Dan Salvi stated, "Our first string hardly knew what it was like to play a whole game." He added, "We gave out more sophomore numerals this year than ever before because more boys got a chance to play."

Brad Lofgren sprints away from would be tacklers toward the goal in the Mundelein Carmel game.

Varsity harriers Dan Carter and Dale Larson maintain a lead against West runners as Tom Begley makes his bid for third.

Placing fifth in this year's Big 8 conference meet, the '67 varsity harriers ran up a 3-4 conference record and a 5-5 season mark, improving over last year's team which boasted only one conference win.

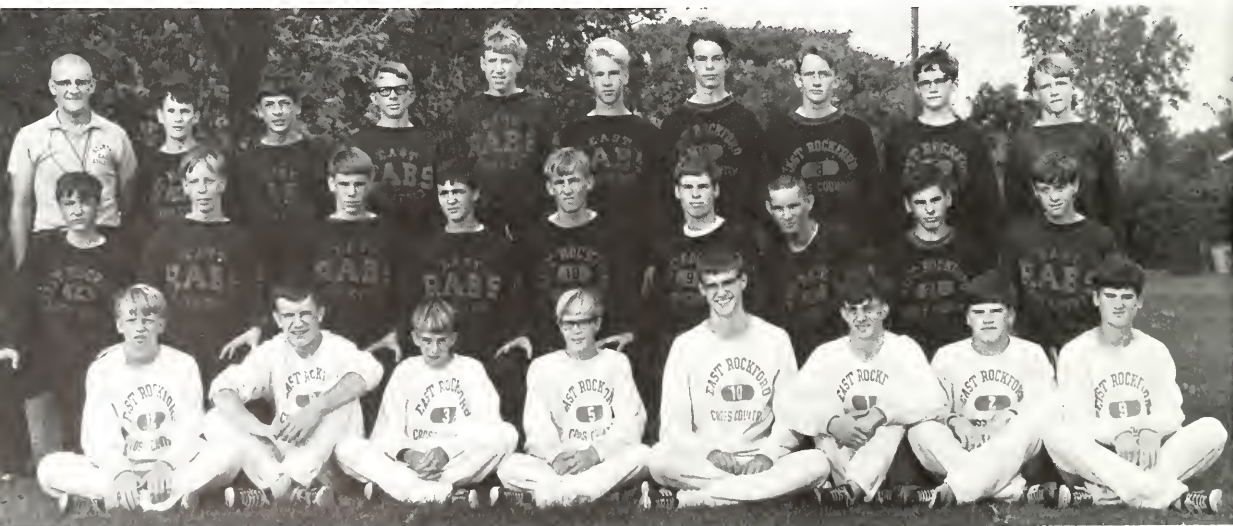

Seniors Dan Carter and Dale Larson paced this year's team with Carter consistently finishing first or second in dual meets. Larson improved over the season and finished thirteenth in the Big 8 meet, three places ahead of Carter.

This year's J-V squad fared better than the varsity in conference meets with a 4-3 record. For the season they had a 5-5 mark and placed fifth in district competition.

"The bright point of our season was the fact that our sophomores came in third in the Big 8," commented Coach Dick Haselton. Walt Cox led the sophomores as he placed eighth winning a ribbon.

"We have a lot of strong runners in the sophomore and junior classes," added Coach Haselton. "I think next season's record will be better this one's."

Four Tankers Lead Rabs '67-'68 Efforts

Varsity tankers Howard Goldman (top) swimming butterfly, Fred Birch (bottom) swimming breaststroke and Ric Friest (right) swimming backstroke, display the form that won them first place in either the Big 8 or City swim meets.

Four East swimmers captured first places in either the City Swim Meet or the Big 8 Meet. The Rabs picked up three firsts in each meet.

Diver Jon Conklin and backstroke specialist Ric Friest won firsts in both meets, Friest setting a new record time of 1:00.5 in the City Meet.

Howard Goldman, swimming butterfly, took second in the City and returned one week later to take first in the Conference. Breaststroker Fred Birch edged out Pete Wupper of Guilford for first place in the City but fell to third in the Big 8.

Senior Jeff Nelson takes off from the diving block with victory in sight in the 100 freestyle.

The '68 East swimming team took second places in both the City Championship and the Big 8 Championship.

The Rabbs finished close behind Guilford in both meets, ending East's four-year domination in the city and six-year rule of the Big 8.

The swimmers compiled a 6-2 conference dual record, being defeated twice by Guilford, and a 9-5 dual season record. In the Dolphin Relays East finished fourth behind New Trier, Evanston and Guilford.

In the district swimming meet held at Rock Island, East finished in fourth place behind Moline, Rock Island and Guilford. Rab swimmers took five fourth place finishes, one fifth and one sixth.

Divers Jon Conklin and Tom Bailey were the only Rabbs to qualify for the state meet. Conklin placed third in the district and Bailey took fifth, setting a sophomore record. Neither of the boys qualified for the state finals.

Sophomore Ron Nordquist set an East sophomore record of 1:02.5 in the backstroke, breaking the previous time of 1:03.2 set in 1949, the oldest swimming record at East.

Seniors Jeff Nelson and Ric Friest were elected Co-Captains of the team. Friest was named Most Valuable Swimmer because of his season's performances and time in the annual Pentathelon.

Forward Mike Kollberg harasses Freeport's guard in an attempt to get the ball.

Rab Cagers Suffer

Dwight Robinson dribbles into trouble as the Belvidere defense closes in on him.

Disappointment, frustration and lack of ability handicapped a determined, hardworking varsity basketball squad this year, as the cagers won only two games out of their 22 game schedule.

The two victories, both conference games, found the Rabbs beating Belvidere and Harlem by the narrow margin of two points in each game.

In games against Boylan, Auburn and West the Rabbs played fine basketball, but never came through in close situations. "We improved all season this year," commented Coach Richard Haselton, "but we never quite had enough to win the close ones."

In the Auburn contest the Rabbs were down by only one point going into the last quarter, but ended up losing 66-59 because of poor shooting and unnecessary turnovers.

One of the most exciting games of the season was the Boylan contest in which the Rabbs tied Boylan in regular time, only to lose 68-65 in an over-time.

Searching for the right starting five, Coach Haselton tried every possible combination from his ten-man team. The second half of the season found Dwight Robinson and Sam Pobjecky as guards, Randy White and Mike Kollberg as forwards and Chris Plager as center for the starting line-up.

A spark of hope brings the East bench to its feet in an exciting moment of the Boylan game.

Season of Frustration, Disappointment

Second Row: Coach Dick Haselton, D. Robinson, J. Valentine, C. Plager, F. Rogers, M. Kollberg.

Voted by his teammates as Most Valuable Player and Captain was Chris Plager. Plager averaged 15.3 points per game in conference play and was a member of the All City Team and given an Honorable Mention award on the All Big 8 Team.

A newly created award this year was Best Free Throw Shooter. Dwight Robinson won the award with a 68 percent average. Mike Kollberg was named the Most Improved Player on the '68 squad.

Soph Cagers Tie for Third in Big 8

Brad Lofgren lets loose with a jump shot as Boylan cager attempts to block the shot.

Completing one of their best seasons in past years, the Rablets placed third in the Big 8, tied with Freeport behind Auburn and Guilford.

In Bob Pellant's first year as sophomore coach, the sophs compiled an 11-10 season record and an 8-6 conference record. The sophs had to hustle to overcome their slow start after winning only two out of their first seven games.

Coach Pellant chose the second East-West and East-Auburn games as the best of the season. The Rablets whipped the Braves 69-50 but dropped a 56-49 decision to the Squires in the closing weeks of a tough sophomore race.

Pellant had praise for his entire squad but cited Brad Lofgren, leading scorer, and Mike Thomas, leading rebounder and free throw shooter, as stand-outs. The coach felt that his team hustled all the time, worked hard and progressed rapidly.

The Rablets entered the Belvidere Sophomore Tournament and won their first game 60-42 over Crystal Lake. The soph's bid for the championship, however, came to an end when they were dumped by Auburn 68-45.

Rab Matmen Post 5-1 Conference Mark

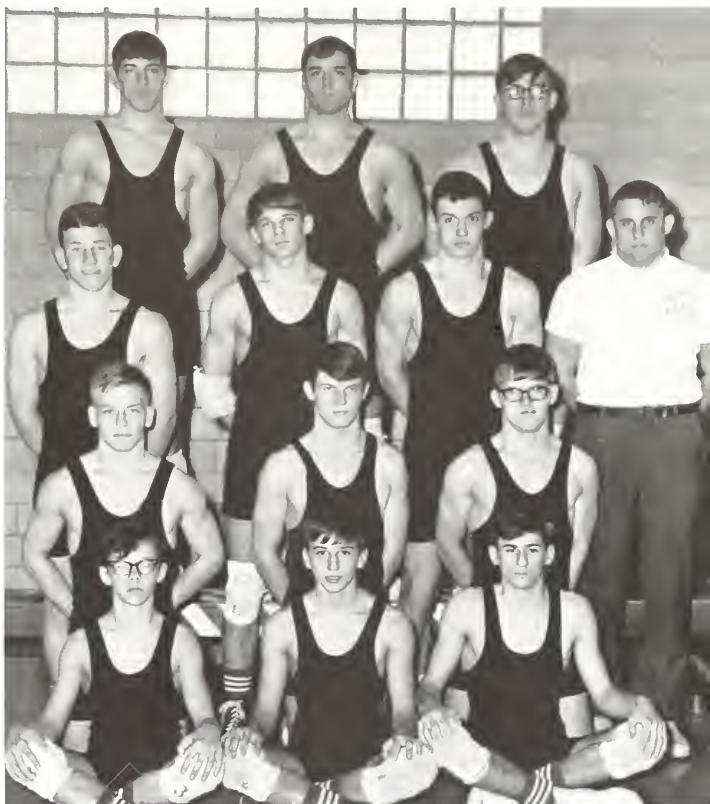

East's wrestlers had a near-perfect conference dual meet record of 5-1 this year, although they were only 8-8 overall. A strong group of juniors and sophomores will be back next year, including seven of this year's varsity.

Both Tom Hannah (35-5) at 180 and Jack Knutson (26-5) at 154 captured Big 8 Conference and District crowns. Hannah lost only one match until he reached the sectional tourney. From there he was defeated four times on his way to sixth place in the state.

Three all-time and three second-place records were set this year. Hannah had 23 near-falls, breaking the all-time record. He stands second to Roger Scott in most total points with 153 and most pins with 17. Junior Mike Verhage and sophomore Dave Cox both broke the record for most escapes with 25 and 23 respectively, and junior Roger Whittington has scored the most reversals ever, 29.

Tom Hannah was elected Captain and Most Valuable Wrestler by his teammates, as Ron Below was voted Most Improved Wrestler. Sophomore Dave Cox, who wrestled varsity 145, was named Most Improved Sophomore.

In the Sophomore Big 8 Tourney, held at East, Kent Dahlstrand took first place, as did Ron Anderson and Eric Foreman.

Gymnasts Improve, Compile 4-4 Record

The '68 gymnasts under Coach Bill King compiled a 4-4 record in dual competition with two seconds and a fourth in quadrangular meets, bettering last year's mark of 1-8.

Senior Captain Paul Fread, one of two returning lettermen, had a good season in his speciality, the still rings, but failed to qualify for the State Meet. The other returning letterman, senior Dale Larson, also failed to qualify for the state on the trampoline.

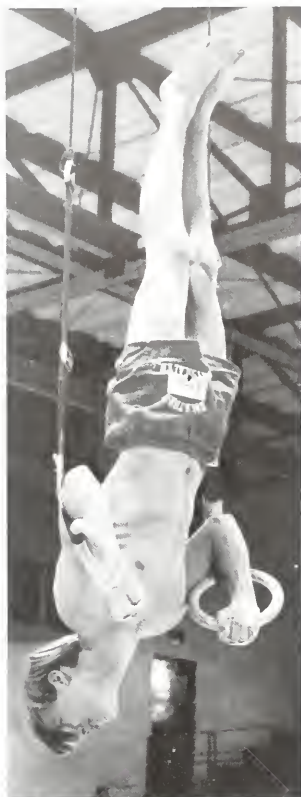

This year's short-handed team had to rely heavily on juniors Jay Hogfeldt, Brad Larson, Dick Hess and Roy Swanson. Sophomores Brian Bradley and Cliff Rigsby also helped fill out the team.

Showing definite improvement over the '67 squad, the gymnasts jumped from last year's fourth place finish in the Oak Park Quadrangular to an impressive second. The Rab's also revenged last year's loss to Elgin Larkin by downing them twice in dual meets.

Besides competing in dual and quadrangular meets, the Kingmen also performed in five exhibitions. They displayed their talents at Lincoln and Jefferson Junior High Schools, as well as regular half-time exhibitions.

Nick Pumilia strains for balance as he performs a handstand on the rings.

Bruce Pettit works out on the rings during an after-school session.

Vickie Gille practices part of her free-exercise routine. Vickie along with Toni and Candy Shellenberger was an active participant in girls' gymnastics.

Revamped Program Produces Greater I-M Participation

"This was one of the most successful intramural programs that we have had in the past few years," commented Bill King, director of the program.

Included in this year's activities were gymnastics, wrestling, basketball, swimming, weight-lifting, bowling and golf.

Coach King attributed the success of intramurals to the addition of wrestling and the fact that there was no obligation for participants to belong to any certain team.

This year's golf champ was sophomore Bob Stark, who beat out last year's winner, varsity linksman Dave Grimm, in the final round.

Tim McCrudden builds up strength by pressing weights.

Carl Pearson and Mark Caldwell improve their wrestling skills during intramural workouts.

Chris Plager sails over the high hurdles on his way to another victory.

Lettermen Bolster

"I expect this season to be one of the best track seasons in East's history," predicted Coach Dan Salvi at the beginning of the '68 season. "With over 100 athletes on this year's team I had much talent to work with."

This year's cindermen aimed at bettering last year's record-setting team which broke 34 school records, including two conference and one district mark.

Scoring eight points in last year's State Meet, Neil Brogren and Terry Brown gave East ninth place, the highest state finish in the school's history.

Leading the '68 varsity team were returning thin-clads, hurdler Chris Plager, pole vaulter Jim Stafford, discus specialist Dan Youngberg, half-milers Paul White, Randy White and Tim McCrudden and two milers Dan McConnell and Dan Carter.

One of last year's records was sure to fall this season as McConnell's two-mile record was broken early in practice sessions by Carter who ran it in a time of 10:06 inside the school.

With their opening game scheduled against Kirkland Hiawatha and a tough conference opener against Guilford, the '68 Diamondmen began practice early in March.

Anticipating a weak point in the Rabsox pitching, Coach Charles Moser concentrated on improving his moundmen. Pitching hopefuls from last year's J-V squad were Don Clothier, Sam Pobjecky, Randy Barnes and Brian Klaas.

At the beginning of the season Coach Moser commented, "If our pitching comes around, we should finish in the top three in the Big 8. We should have a strong defense in all the other positions."

Leading this year's team were returning varsity letter winners, Dan Brown, left fielder; Glenn Miller, center fielder; and Jim Valentine, first baseman.

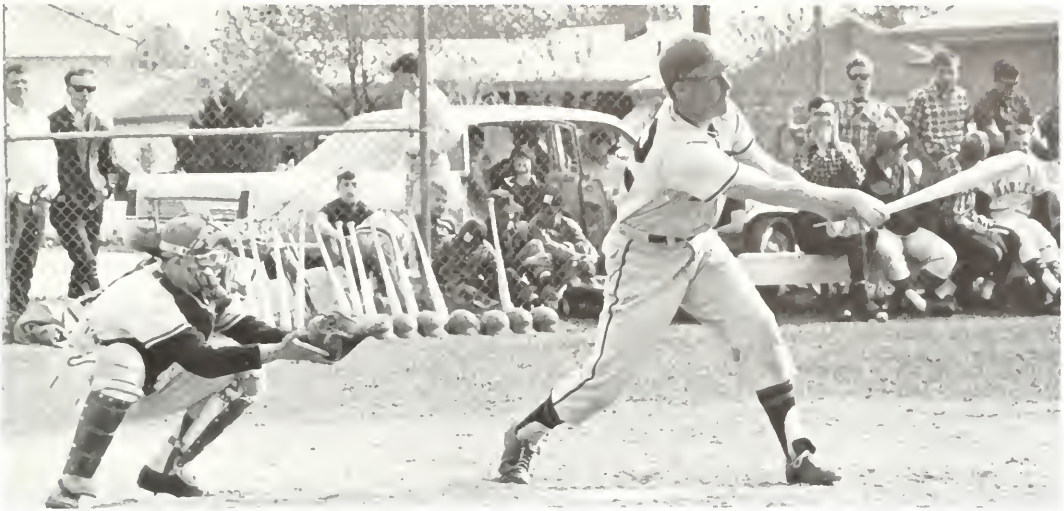

Last year's Rabsox compiled a 8 1/2-5 1/2 conference record to finish third in the Big 8, while J-Vs posted a 10-4 season placing first in the conference.

Skoglund, Kozel Lead '68 Netmen

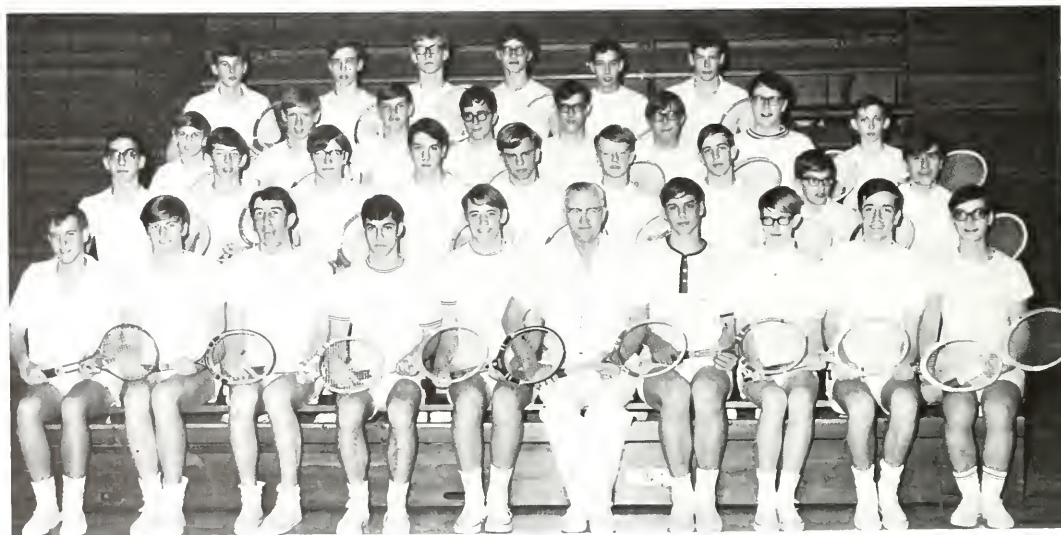

Bill Skoglund and Ed Kozel display their talents in pre-season practice.

The '68 netmen faced a tough season this year as they had four meets in their first week of action, going against Rochelle, Mt. Morris, Freeport and Auburn.

The netmen lost four of last year's six varsity men, but Bill Skoglund and Ed Kozel, number one man and number five man from last year, returned to lead the team. Completing the top five were senior Ted Liebovich, and juniors Ed Anderson and Brian Gustafson.

"Both Skoglund and Kozel are good steady players," commented Coach Harry Palmer at the start of the season. "Having had the experience of varsity play last year we're hoping they'll lead the team this year," he added.

Skoglund placed second in Big 8 singles last year, as he was beaten by Boylan's Bruce Trapp in the final match. The ace netman also qualified to go down state in doubles with Jim Elliot, but the duo did not place in state competition.

E-Rab Golfers— Defending Big 8 District Champs

Under the direction of Brad Fowler, new varsity coach, the '68 linksmen had the job of defending the Big 8 and District championships.

Last year's team, led by Dan Anderson and Dale Johnson, won both meets and went on to place fifth in the State Meet. The '67 team had a season record of 7-1, the only loss going to Freeport.

This year's team started off the season with their first meet at Beloit, and they traveled to Champaign for the Champaign Invitational to which only the top 22 teams in the state are invited.

Competing for the five varsity positions on the team were returning varsity and J-V letter-winners Gary Olson, Dave Grimm, Steve Bennett, John Scott, Steve Lindquist, John Jacobsen, Jim Nijoka, Steve Lindquist, Frank Rogers, Tom Spangrud and Tom Johnson.

Varsity cheerleaders Donna Dahlstrand, Judi Finch, Nancy Johnson, Annette Paluska and Leslie Thrasher prepared to cheer by attending Summer Cheerleading Camp at Illinois State University. They achieved a first place in overall competition.

Practicing sixth hour, the cheerleaders perfected yells and learned a pom-pom routine which they performed at basketball games to the band's arrangement of "Spanish Flea."

New sweaters were obtained at the beginning of the basketball season. The varsity sweaters were red with a black-and-white "V." The sophomore sweaters were black with a red-and-white "V."

Varsity alternate for the 1967-68 squad was Sue Douglass, and Miss Janis Martin was the new cheerleading adviser.

Dorado Members

"Fantasia," the climax of the year's work for Dorado, was presented on April 25, 26 and 27. The annual show consisted of acts portraying famous fairy tales.

Under the direction of Miss Sandy Schumacher, Dorado club adviser, the girls learned the skills such as walkovers, ballet legs and dolphins used in their performance.

Both synchronized swimming and free swim were offered to Dorado members, many of whom also participated in the Postal State Swim Meet and in the annual Dolphin Show.

Other activities of the club included a Christmas party and a Dad's Night and Mother-Daughter Banquet co-sponsored by GAA.

GAA this year combined with ISC to form one group. The introduction of track and field along with an All-City Bowling Tournament and the regular schedule of other sports also helped to produce a large turn-out of girls for GAA.

Highlighting the year were a fall playday at Harlem and a spring playday at Guilford. These gatherings allowed 20 GAA members to meet girls from different schools.

On December 2, GAA held its Winter Carnival. The girls collected over $400 which was used to buy new equipment for the club. In February, GAA's Dads' Night featured sports for the father-daughter teams and a program at which awards were presented to the winning teams.

Other special events during the year were a collection day for the Heart Fund and the Mother-Daughter Banquet in May.

SC Helps to Form Inter-City Council

Rockford's Inter-City Council was formed to help the area's larger schools with their common problems. Made up of eight high schools, the Council campaigned for the school expansion referendum and the civic center. East's representatives to the Council were Jay Henry, Ric Nordstrom and Paul Thome.

This year East Student Council members attended several area conventions and workshops. These day-long sessions gave Council members from a cross section of schools a chance to exchange ideas and understand the different functions of student councils. The conventions featured business meetings, guest speakers, group discussions and banquets.

The major responsibility of the Student Council lay in promoting activities at East. "The Sign of Rabius"—Homecoming 1967—was one of the major projects of the Council. Other projects which boosted Rab spirit were pep assemblies, after-game dances, benefit dances, pep signs for games, the toys for tots campaign, a Christmas basket drive and the Student Council mixer. The book center also represented a major responsibility of the council.

56 Staff Members Plus Work, Fun Keep

New ideas, informal discussions and work were a few of the elements that made up Publications.

Scheduling pictures, writing headlines, making assignments to junior newswriters and meeting deadlines comprised part of the work for those on the HIGHLIGHTS staff. This year's staff published 28 papers, more than any other high school in Rockford. For the first time a Literary Supplement highlighted the Christmas issue. Magazine layout was used in this issue and for picture pages in other issues of the paper.

During the summer members of the ARGUS staff began gathering ideas by attending workshops and by meeting with the yearbook company representatives. The staff members scheduled and cropped pictures, identified faces, planned layouts and wrote copy to meet five major deadlines. An expanded opening section and special effects were created especially for this yearbook.

Members of the business staff promoted and handled subscription sales. They planned the fall kick-off assembly which featured an original version of "Little Red Riding Hood." The business staff also sold ads, paid bills and balanced the books. All the problems involved with the circulation of the paper and yearbook were solved.

Presenting "EHS Reports: Spotlight '67," East's talent show, and selling chocolate covered almonds provided extra income for Publications.

Social activities for Pub members included a Christmas party and a spring picnic.

The annual spring banquet highlighted the year. Quill and Scroll members were inducted. This year's staffs were honored, and positions on next year's staffs were announced.

The Battalion Staff passes in review during the Veterans' Day Parade.

The ROTC Brigade in Rockford was composed of battalions at East, West, and Auburn. Each battalion was divided into three companies with two platoons to each company.

The purpose of the Reserve Officers Training Corps is to train a cadet in leadership and respect. A cadet learned to accept responsibilities and to exercise leadership while carrying out assigned duties.

ROTC courses emphasized the importance of military customs and courtesy. These courses included marksmanship, first aid and Army organization.

Cadets ushered at home football and basketball games, and marched in the Veterans' Day and Memorial Day Parades.

Color Guard Marches at Games, Parades

Sophomore cadets were chosen by the varsity Guard and trained in manual and maneuvers. The varsity then picked five cadets to make up the sophomore unit. Sophomore Color Guard members raised and lowered the flag on all regular school days.

After the sophomores were picked, the team prepared for their permanent installation as official color guard for next year. The installation took place at Federal Inspection on May 16.

The official Color Guard for the year was composed of four juniors. They represented East at home football games, local parades and at battalion drills.

Executing their movements with precision, SPECTRE, East's ROTC Drill Team, captures first place at the Quadrangular Meet held at Auburn.

SPECTRE, East's ROTC Drill Team, earned first place honors in the annual Quadrangular Drill Meet held at Auburn. Competing for the trophy were teams from East, West, Auburn and Beloit. Each team performed intricate marching maneuvers and a precision manual of arms.

While performing, the Drill Team wore a modified uniform which consisted of a white ascot, khaki shirt, combat boots and polished black helmets.

Team members spent many extra hours perfecting maneuvers and preparing for their meets.

The team this year consisted of nine members commanded by Captain Mike Petty.

Skills for Competition

This year proved to be an excellent one for East's ROTC Rifle Team. Junior Steve Nordquist tied the old record of 81 on a ten-shot international target in the stand position and earned the 250 medal for shooting 250 in four meets.

The team's record was 6-3. They ranked very high in the Fifth Army ratings which included schools all over the Midwest area.

ROTC sponsors also participated in several shooting meets. Positions shot from by the team members included the prone, kneel and stand. They competed against West's sponsors in two matches this year and remained victorious.

By defeating West's sponsors, East captured the trophy for the third consecutive year.

Company sponsors Julie Radlund, June Nelson and Gwen Andrews carefully aim before shooting under the direction of Sgt. McHughes.

East Hosts First

Aqua, silver and blue crepe paper transformed the East gym into a "Misty Eve" when the military ball was held on March 9. ROTC cadets from East, West and Auburn, as well as students from these and other area schools, danced to the music of Norris Romeo's Orchestra.

"Misty Eve" began a new tradition for the Rockford ROTC Brigade. Instead of holding a ball for each of the three schools, the East cadets hosted the dance for the entire brigade.

On Saturday morning the cadets decorated East's gym in preparation for the dance. The ceiling and walls, as well as the second floor hall where refreshments were served, were decorated with crepe paper.

That evening cadets and guests were greeted by and three battalion commanders, the East High S-1 and their dates. After signing the guest book, couples had a whole evening of dancing ahead of them.

An intermission was held at 10:30 p.m. in which the sponsors from each school were introduced. Major Berrios, Senior Army Instructor in Rockford, was presented with a .45 caliber pistol as a going-away gift. The Major is scheduled to leave for Vietnam by the middle of June.

After the intermission, the cadets and their dates participated in the Grand March which was climaxed by the impressive arch of sabres. Dancing then continued until 11:30.

Passing through the receiving line Julie Carlson and Captain John Anderson are greeted by Major Dan Youngberg and Maggie Worland.

During intermission commanders and sponsors are introduced—Company C, Richard Bryan and Julie Radland; Company B, John Anderson and June Nelson; Company A, Brian Anderson and Gwen Andrews; and Battalion, Maggie Worland and Dan Youngberg.

Stressing service and leadership among students was the main objective of having hall monitors, a group of students who volunteered during their study halls to help the office and faculty.

Among the duties performed by the monitors were maintaining order in halls, checking admits and passing out absence lists.

Although they are not in study hall, monitors still are allowed the privilege of going to the library or to see a teacher. By leaving an admit stub with the monitor by the library, they are excused from their post for that hour.

Monitor positions are assigned and supervised by Eskel Norbeck, assistant principal. Normally 11 students are needed to fill monitor positions each hour; however, this number is doubled fourth hour. This allows someone to be on each post during all lunch periods.

Library Staff Aids Students, Faculty

Library assistant Sandy Allen finds the correct filed copy of "Sports Illustrated" for Wayne Happ.

Students on the library staff devoted one of their study halls each day to working in the library. Credit was earned by staff members for participating in this elective activity.

During the hour in the library, aids shelved magazines and books, obtained back issues of periodicals for students, worked at the circulation desk checking books in and out, and sorted and delivered students' admit stubs to study halls.

Under the guidance of Miss Doris Connors and Mrs. Nelle Skinner, club members kept the library a useful facility for students and faculty.

The staff members gained a greater knowledge of the library and also experience in meeting people.

Orchestra Performs Ives, Bach

The french horn and bass section work for balance in volume during a practice session.

"Louder violins! I want more feeling and emotion, winds!"

These pleas made by E. Kent Hart, orchestra director, were an important factor in the presentation of East's winter and spring concerts which highlighted the year for the '67-'68 orchestra. East's student body was given a preview to the concerts in class assemblies presented the week of each concert.

The music performed included a satirical contemporary symphony by Charles Ives, as well as classical numbers by Vaughan Williams, and Johann Sebastian Bach.

At the Christmas assemblies, the orchestra presented serious works while accompanying the A Capella and Treble Clef Choirs. They also provided music for Baccalaureate.

Many hours of hard work went into the orchestra Homecoming float. With the title "Blast Those Knights," the float featured a huge E-Rab trumpeter conquering an Auburn Knight.

In a money-raising campaign, the sale of Texas Manor Fruitcakes provided tense competition between orchestra members. After the contest, monetary prizes were awarded to the three top sellers. Money from this project was used in the purchase and repair of instruments and for a tape recorder to aid in rehearsals.

Band Adds Pop Concert

East's Concert Band, while arousing school spirit and entertaining the public, also earned a new look during the past year. Band members sold candy and soft drinks house to house and coffee and doughnuts during night school to raise the $10,000 necessary to purchase new uniforms.

Beginning its season last fall, East's Band played at four home football games, and executed unique and intricate field formations.

The band then traveled to Evanston, Illinois, to participate in Northwestern University's annual Band Day, where the Rabbs joined with members of 70 other bands.

As the football season drew to a close and basketball got underway, band members began tuning up for East's home games.

At the middle of the school year, instruments were laid aside for one night as the "Rab-band" participated in its annual Band Fun Night. Members took to the water and the basketball court for a night of recreation and relaxation. The band also presented a mid-winter pop concert to add money to the uniform fund.

Spring arrived and the bandsmen found themselves preparing for three "teaser" assemblies, the spring concert, the Festival of Bands held March 5 and the Memorial Day Parade. Participating in Commencement activities concluded the band's schedule for the year.

Crew Builds Sets For One-Act Plays

Experimentation was the word describing many of the Stage Crew's activities for the past year. The crew members worked out new bases for some paints and discovered new ways of re-covering flats.

The regular activities of Stage Crew included building sound resonators for the Orchestra, Band and A Cappella concerts and constructing sets for the Senior Class Play.

Another accomplishment of the year was acquiring some new tools so work could be done faster and more efficiently.

To climax the year, Stage Crew members held a party after work on the senior play was finished.

East Folk Dancers met every day fourth hour in the auditorium under the direction of Linden Lundstrom in order to learn the dances of Sweden, Scotland, the Americas, Germany, the Phillipines and Israel and to prepare for their different performances.

On December 10, the dancers appeared at Christmas Tree Lane at the YMCA. Four couples from the group also worked up an Italian dance for the Talent Show. The Folk Dancers performed at Wesley Willows Retirement Home on January 30 and at the National Motor Inn on April 30. The Folk Festival in May, their final public appearance, was a presentation of all the dances which the students had rehearsed during the year.

At all their performances, the dancers wore the native costumes of each country. For some of the dances, bamboo poles, tambourines, and swords were used to add to the effect of the routine.

Director Linden Lundstrom checks over some selections sung by A Cappella.

A Cappella's 35 members, under the direction of Linden Lundstrom, formed the smallest choir in East's history. However, the group's year was full of activities.

A Cappella members performed during the year for such events as Rockford's Memorial Day service, a music teacher's meeting at Jefferson and the traditional May concert. Northern Illinois University also hosted East's singing group along with other Illinois high school choirs on March 23.

A part in East's Christmas assemblies and programs for Lincoln and Jefferson Junior Highs were other events in A Cappella's schedule. Ending the year were their contributions to Baccalaureate and Commencement.

The choir's social activities included a fall picnic in Aldeen Park and a progressive dinner which ended in a party.

Treble Clef Sings

Representing East in public performances throughout the community, the Treble Clef Choir maintained a busy schedule. The all-girl choir practiced every day during second hour under the direction of Mrs. Florence Shugars.

Treble Clef's first event of the year was a Christmas concert presented December 3 at the Central Christian Church. They also performed in East's Christmas program with the other choirs and the orchestra.

In the spring Treble Clef gave two concerts. One was presented at the Church of the Nazarene, and the other was given at Faith Lutheran Church.

Treble Clef's bake sales were the major fund-raising events of the choir. The proceeds were used to pay for the new robe trunks received in the early, fall and to give a donation to AFS.

At Guilford on February 28, the girls met with Guilford's Girls' Concert Choir for their annual tea. The groups presented warm-up exercises and some favorite selections for each other.

AFS Club held a Christmas party for Moroccan foreign exchange student, Violette Amzalag. With Violette's help, club members decorated a Christmas tree for the library. The party was highlighted by a visit from "Santa Claus."

East's AFS chapter also participated in an all-city get-together with Northern Illinois exchange students. Four E-Rabs hosted visiting students the weekend of January 20.

To have two foreign exchange students next year and send one Rab abroad this summer, the club had to raise $1125. The sale of donuts, tags, book covers, and folders along with bake sales and the R-Club-faculty basketball game on March 25 helped the group to raise funds.

East's AFS finalists for the summer program were Linda Bergstrom and Martha Brazones.

Assisting adviser Mrs. Jennie Murphy were new sponsors Roger Stevens and Mrs. Linda Watson.

FTA Aids Church Tutoring Program

Members of the Future Teachers of America participated in the tutoring program at Centennial Methodist Church this year. They had the opportunity to teach fourth, fifth and sixth graders, and thus, to gain experience in teaching.

FTA members were guests at many conference meetings throughout the state this year. In November, two members travelled to Jacksonville, Illinois, to participate in the Special Education Conference. Other members attended teas and special meetings held for FTA's in the city.

The December meeting was highlighted by the showing of the movie, "The Littlest Angel." At Easter, the future teachers went to the Easter Seal Building and organized a party for the children there. This party is an annual event. In April, which is teacher's month, every teacher at East received an apple from FTA.

Under the direction of adviser William Dolan, FTA joined the Future Nurses Club in building a float for Homecoming, "Make Em See Stars."

FNC Studies Rock Valley's

East's Future Nurses had a chance to see the newest nurses' training program in the area when they toured the campus of Rock Valley College and were told about the nursing and dental hygiene training programs there.

The girls also learned more about the nursing and health careers from monthly speakers, including a medical technician, nursing instructor and two nurses.

At Christmas some of the girls visited patients at St. Anthony's Hospital and sang carols in the halls.

FNC's new adviser was Mrs. Janet Moline, who worked with Mrs. Edna Walker, the school nurse.

Money raised by a bake sale helped finance club activities and a Homecoming float built jointly with the Future Teachers Association.

Welcomes Cheerleaders to Membership

Membership in R-Club is available to any East athlete who has earned a major or minor letter.

To uphold the club's constitution, R-Club members try to live up to the standards represented by the letters in the club's name: Responsibility, Character, Loyalty, Unity and Brotherhood.

The purpose of the club is to arouse enthusiasm among the student body and to maintain unity with fellow athletes.

The cheerleaders joined R-Club this year to help them boost school spirit. Also new for the club this year were the gold bars that replaced the extra major letters.

Under the direction of Thomas Koontz, club adviser, R-Club sold E-Rab pins and pennants at games and pep rallies and held a bake sale. With the money earned by these projects, R-Club was able to sponsor a hayride, a Christmas dance and the annual East Relays Dance.

The club held its initiation for new club members in the spring at the All Sports Banquet.

Dolphin Club's 1967-68 activities included a get-acquainted splash party, the twenty-eighth annual Dolphin Show, initiation of new members at a spring picnic at Valley Park and a bake sale.

The Dolphin Show, "Nautical News," evolved around a news program. This year's show consisted of 13 or 14 acts along with water ballet performed by Dorado members.

After passing their initiation tests at the spring picnic, the Dolphin probates were admitted as full members.

Money raised by the Dolphin Show and the bake sale went to help defray some of the expenses for the swim team.

Membership Hits New High in 67-68

Climaxing the activities of the Vocational Industries Club was a spring banquet attended by club members and their employers. Preparations for this banquet were made at club meetings held two Wednesdays a month throughout the year.

Kenneth Philpott, adviser, explained that the club was formed last year to develop leadership and to promote high standards of workmanship among the industrial classes. This year's membership reached a high of thirty juniors and seniors.

Jobs open to club members are presently in the industrial fields, but future plans include a retail sales and possibly a hospital work program.

Cheryl Carlson and Loretta Gerde practice shorthand with the aid of the tape machine in order to improve their skill in taking dictation.

Club Sells Candy, Sponsors Banquet

To help students interested in business to develop leadership is the main purpose of the Cooperative Office Education Club.

Highlighting this year's activities was a banquet in May with other local high schools. Each student brought his employer to the banquet as a guest. To help pay the cost of this banquet, students sold candy.

Members of the Office Occupations Club, accompanied by club adviser Chellis Emmons, attended two conferences this year. The Fall Area Conference was hosted by the four Rockford high schools and was held in November at West High School. Work shops and lectures were featured. A leadership conference similar to the earlier conference was held in March.

Loretta Gerde keeps track of sales as Cheryl Carlson fills her orders for candy sold to finance the banquet club members gave for their employers.

Science Club Joins Nation-Wide Group

Science Club's aim, to understand the important meaning of science in life, was furthered with the help of a new adviser, George Hagen.

This year, along with being a member of the Illinois Junior Academy of Science, the East Science Club also became a member of the Science Clubs of America.

To improve their scientific skills, Science Club members saw several movies put out by the Bell Telephone Company on such subjects as the Echo Communications Satellite.

One meeting featured a speaker from the telephone company who spoke about lasers.

Science Club also planned several field trips during the spring and a tour of the Sundstrand Aviation Plant.

Debaters Study Criminal Investigations

East's Debate Club offers those interested in national problems the opportunity to learn more about these subjects through competing in debate tournaments. This year East's varsity debaters finished fourth in the Big 8.

"Resolved: That Congress should establish uniform regulations to control criminal investigation procedures" was this year's topic. The debaters worked every day during seventh hour with the aid of Douglas Boyer. Debate adviser, to research, plan and develop speeches and rebuttals, and to organize card files.

New members were initiated into the National Forensic League, the honorary debating society, which was chartered at East last year.

Again this year, debaters worked the coat check at home basketball games. The proceeds were used to finance travel to the tournaments.

Trail Rides, Films, Christmas Party

"Horse lovers welcome!" This slogan encouraged E-Rabs to join the Rab Riders.

The purpose of this club is to give horse lovers a place to get together and "talk horse sense." Since many students cannot own a horse, the club offered the chance to learn about horses through actual experience and also to do some group riding.

New sponsor Phillip Connor assisted at meetings held every third Monday of the month.

Participating in trail rides was a major event for Rab Riders this year. Students who did not have horses rented them, while those who had their own brought them to the trail rides.

Rab Riders' monthly meetings included guest speakers, a Christmas party, and several movies about horses. To raise money for the organization, a bake sale was sponsored by the members.

Viewing a French movie, "The Red Balloon," at a monthly meeting in the Little Theater was a highlight for the French Club members this year.

Earlier in the school year, club members helped to make the foreign language club float for Homecoming with the other language clubs. The float was the French Club's first group activity.

French Club decorated a Christmas tree for YWCA's annual Christmas Tree Lane. The tree's decorations, paper birds and cookies, were some of the typical French ornaments which club adviser Edward Baraty helped club members make at the meetings before Christmas.

French Club's last activity was the annual club picnic held in May for all members.

Becky Wakefield, Becky Isoz and Chris Kruger put the finishing touches on "Beat the Knights to Pisces," the foreign language club sponsored float.

Swedish Club's first taste of Swedish culture was the Lucia Festival. This Year's Lucia, Marie McNamara, and her attendants Cindy Miller, Kathy Mumma, Britt Nelson, and Margo Palmer, seniors, and Linda Johnson and Kathy Sandberg, juniors, reigned over the Lucia Festival held at the Erlander Home on December 9.

Caroling was another activity during the Jul, or Christmas, season when the Swedish students sang at the P. A. Peterson and the Alma Nelson nursing homes and the Rockford Municipal Sanitarium. Mrs. Margaret Swanson club adviser, taught the girls Swedish carols.

The annual Swedish smorgasbord held at the Sweden House was attended by both Swedish Club members and Swedish students.

Christmas was officially danced out Thursday, January 18, at the regular monthly club meeting. Mrs. Arthur Johnson from the Salvation Army was the guest speaker.

A final highlight of the year took place as members of Swedish Club attended a picnic in May.

Christmas Party Features Skit, Pinata

Spanish Club's purpose is to give its members an active part in the lives and culture of Spanish-speaking peoples. Meetings were held on the first Tuesday of every month with Carl Willy as faculty adviser.

Early last fall, the club heard Ricardo Diaz, an East student originally from Puerto Rico, speak to them about his life in Puerto Rico.

For Homecoming last October, the Spanish Club supported a float along with the other language clubs. It was titled "Beat the Knights to Pisces" and won third place after the junior and senior class floats.

Before Christmas, Spanish Club had its annual Christmas fiesta with a skit on the Twelve Days of Christmas presented entirely in Spanish. The party concluded as the members broke the traditional pinata filled with candy.

A bake sale was sponsored by the club at the end of the year to raise money for next year.

Diane Lausch and Colleen Mikkelsen put finishing touches on a pinata for Spanish Club's Christmas party.

Spanish members Carl Croft, Sue Griggs and Kirsten Erickson put up Christmas decorations in Room 212.

Latin Club Sponsors

East's Latin Club sponsored the District Latin Contest held on March 16. Nine Rabs participated in the contest.

At Latin Club meetings held the first Thursday of every month, Rockford area students showed slides of their trips through Europe with special emphasis on Rome, Italy. Two students from Guilford were among those who spoke at the meetings.

The annual Latin Club Banquet took place on May 2 in East's cafeteria. K. D. Benson, Latin Club adviser, and the members of the club helped with the foreign language club Homecoming float, "Beat the Knights to Pisces."

Oktoberfest Begins German Club's Year

Members of German Club and adviser David Teske celebrated a harvest festival or "Oktoberfest" on Halloween Eve.

German foods were served to the members, and traditional songs of the harvest were sung. The festival concluded with folk dancing.

German Club contributed to the building of the foreign language club float later in the year. Throughout the year German Club also took part in the American Field Service program.

This year German Club's ideas were slightly changed with the acceptance of a new constitution.

NHS, Soph Honor Group Receive Awards of Merit

"I pledge myself to uphold the high purposes of this society." These words, spoken by new members of the National Honor Society signified their induction into the honorary group. The initiation ceremony was held in the gymnasium before parents and the student body.

ABL Views 'Cactus Flower'

During the Christmas meeting, Mrs. Jan Evans, an area artist, speaks on the importance of colors in paintings.

Attending "Cactus Flower" in Chicago during the spring was the feature event of the year for the Admirers of Beautiful Literature.

"Area Arts" or culture in the Rockford area was the central theme for the meetings of the ABL this year. By studying plays and novels and hearing lectures the girls explored the realms of drama, art, literature and music.

ABL welcomed junior and senior girls who had demonstrated a proficiency in English at an invitation tea on October 26. Junior girls were eligible for membership if they had achieved "A's" in sophomore English.

The November meeting featured poetry selections read by William Dolan, East English teacher. Mrs. Richard Eichman, chairman of the Literature and Arts Department of the Rockford Womens Club, told the girls how to enter the Creative Writing Contest.

This year East's ABL members hosted Guilford's ABL chapter in the library at a Christmas tea on December 20. The speaker, Mrs. Jan Evans, a Rockford artist, explained to the two clubs how art can be related to poetry.

As guest of East's ABL, members of the Guilford chapter make their name tags at the Christmas tea.

Honors Given

Leading the class of '68 scholastically were the top ten boys and top ten girls. Rankings were based on the student's academic records through five semesters of high school.

All four of East's National Merit semifinalists reached finalist rank. Christine Kruger, Eric Nordstrom, David Shold and Dan Youngberg received notice of their accomplishment in March. There were 14,000 finalists in the nation-wide competition for scholarships from the National Merit Foundation and individual business firms.

Students Abilities

Each year the Daughters and Sons of the American Revolution recognize two outstanding seniors for scholastic achievement, character and responsibility. Representing the class of '68 were DAR winner Jean Fulton and SAR recipient Gary Olson.

The winners of the 1968 Creative Writing Contest sponsored by the Literature and Arts Department of Rockford Woman's Club presented their entries at a spring luncheon. Prose and poetry selections were chosen for reflecting the writer's feelings toward himself and the world he lives in.

In the District Speech Competition held at West, two of East's six participants captured first places. Mike Connor gave the comedy selection "Would-Be Gentleman" while Gene Roy presented an after-dinner speech on patriotism as if he were speaking at an ROTC banquet. Claire Gutzwiller, Dave List, Jim Kendall and Ty Melvin also advanced to the sectionals.

At the drafting contest banquet, the American Society of Tool Makers and Engineers presented money awards to Andy Palmquist, Ted Jones and Jim Alfors and an honorable mention certificate to Patrick Hughes, Jr.

Teachers, students, and classes are an integral part of a school. Each year education changes a little. Teachers experiment with new techniques. Students gain new ideas and make new demands of their teachers. Changes in curriculum and procedure add to, or sometimes detract from, a system.

This year, East went from three to two grading periods per semester. Crowded conditions moved the band from their balcony to the floor of the gym during pep assemblies. Seventh hour study halls were eliminated. Credit classes were held in the Little Theater. Many students had to stand to eat lunch in the cafeteria.

And life went on at East.

$17 Million Bond Referendum Passes

Among the major accomplishments of the Rockford School System this year was the passage of a three-part referendum to improve the city's schools.

One part comprised a bond issue providing funds for several new schools and renovations and expansions to several others, including East.

The educational fund tax rate was also increased to provide funds for salaries for faculty members and to purchase additional equipment for the entire school system.

Day-to-day upkeep of school buildings was included in the referendum by an increase of the building fund tax rate.

New football stadiums for the use of all the high schools will be built at Auburn and Guilford.

Mr. Wise Guides Students Through the Rab Adventure

Mr. John R. Wise
Principal

"I feel it is better to break a rule to help a student than it is to enforce the rule and make the student bitter." This is Mr. Wise speaking—counselor, leader, and guardian of all East's students.

However, students are not Mr. Wise's only concern. He is also responsible for recruiting new teachers, signing college transcripts, and representing East in general. The approval of the new humanities course which East will initiate next year, represents another of Mr. Wise's duties—improving and revising curriculum.

Former principal of Jefferson Junior High, Mr. Wise sees many differences between a high school and a junior high principal's obligations. Some of these differences include longer hours, much more paper work, nightly social obligations and many on-the-spot decisions.

Deans Aid in Discipline, Organization

Mr. Eskel Norbeck
Assistant Principal
Dean of Boys
Monitor Club

Before homeroom each morning the hall outside the offices of Miss Catherine Needham and Mr. Eskel Norbeck, deans of girls and boys respectively, was filled with students needing admits and excuses. The deans also issued zero hours and late admits.

Aside from before-school duties, Miss Needham worked each day with the Student Council members, helping them in their functions. She was the coordinator of the clubs and their activities, including scheduling meetings and bake sales.

Dances such as "The Sign of Rabius" sponsored by Student Council were also on the list of Miss Needham's responsibilities.

Although Mr. Norbeck worked directly with the students as dean of boys, he also worked with teachers and classes as part of his duties as assistant principal. One of his jobs was relieving over-crowded classrooms, one of East's major problems this year.

Mr. Norbeck also supervised hall monitors as another of his daily chores.

Department Offers Technical English

Sophomores Jim Downing, Bruce Swanson, Ted Jones and Dennis Mayhew watch Jim Hopson portraying Barbara Allen, who mourns for her lost love.

As Carolyn Dolan watches, dramatics students Chuck Kullberg, Sheila Rohrl and Chuck Swenson trim a Christmas tree during the Christmas assembly.

Two new courses offered by the English Department this year were the advanced senior class and the technical course for juniors interested in industrial arts.

College prep English gave seniors a taste of college level writing and thinking. Non-college English courses were also offered to seniors.

Some juniors tackled newswriting while the regular English classes studied American literature and did in-depth studies of current periodicals.

Sophomores were introduced to Shakespeare through studying "Julius Caesar." They were also given a general background in literature.

Speech and drama classes helped to round out the English program. Reading children's books and giving demonstration speeches were part of the assignments.

Amidst a bevy of seminars, panel discussions, stock reports and book reviews, East students fulfilled the requirements of the Social Studies Department.

Following state law, students must take United States history and government and economics. Government students must pass a test on the Constitution to graduate. All classes took the same test, which was prepared by the department.

Also offered by the department were world geography, world history and modern European history.

Many classes hosted speakers who came in from the community to tell about one facet of social science. Students also prepared model senates, mock trials and re-enacted international conferences.

Nancy Boeke uses the library to work on one phase of her stock project for economics class.

Laboratory and non-laboratory classes were offered to East students by the Science Department.

Chemistry and physics were offered for students with an advanced interest in science. For non-college-bound students, physical science and general biology were available. Although general biology was not a laboratory class, students taking physical science performed experiments relating to their studies.

Biology, zoology, botany, nurses zoology, nurses chemistry and earth science were other classes in the science curriculum for either the college or non-college-bound student.

Films, filmstrips, teacher demonstrations, student experiments and classroom displays supplemented textbook information.

Math students Jim Mellenthin and Carol Schwartzlow set up an explanation about time zones.

Technical Math

To help develop its purpose of promoting mathematics as a tool in other subjects, the Math Department added a technical math course. This course was designed for shop students who wanted a second year of math.

Other mathematics courses, such as geometry, algebra, trigonometry, and probability and statistics, stressed mathematical theory and improved computational skills.

The department also offered courses in general mathematics, and advanced students could take math analysis.

During the year the department supervised four student teachers from Northern Illinois University as they did their practice teaching. One of these students, Mr. Jerry Nagles, was hired and joined the staff for the second semester.

"Salesman" Bill Haskill demonstrates selling techniques with "buyer" Doug Pratt in their retailing class.

Although many of the students in the business education courses trained for the business world, many also developed skills for personal use.

Typing, shorthand and bookkeeping prepared students for college or for after-graduation employment. Retailing, salesmanship and business law were also offered, as well as courses in office machines, stenography and clerical practice.

This year a new multi-channel tape device was used in shorthand.

Mr. Richard Campbell became department head this year. The former head, Mr. Leslie O'Brien, was hospitalized during the first quarter. During this time he was replaced by Mrs. Lorraine Fink. However, he was able to return for the second quarter, and he finished the year.

Reading, writing, speaking and listening to a foreign language were the major skills students in the Language Department learned.

First and second year courses taught the basic grammar and pronunciation rules of the language. Third year students began reading easy selections while fourth and fifth year students continued with more difficult selections.

Tapes and records played in the language laboratory increased a student's listening comprehension. Students copied the pronunciation from the recording to improve their own pronunciation.

Films aided students in visualizing a foreign country. Teachers also prepared bulletin board displays of travel posters and pictures.

Fourth-year French students Debbie Eccles, Kathy Kalivoda, Cindy Johnson and Janet Stokely re-enact a scene from "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme."

Music Classes—Outlet for Talent

Many areas of music study were available to East students this year. Instrumental and vocal music were offered as well as courses in music appreciation.

For students who played instruments, the orchestra and band each met one hour a day to practice and to prepare for annual concerts.

Students vocalized their music talents in choral groups. Male, female and co-ed groups were available.

Music literature and appreciation classes gave students an understanding of music throughout history without requiring actual vocal or instrumental participation.

Harmony class stressed writing music, and folk dancers learned the native dances of many countries.

Courses Require Mechanical Ability

Seeking to develop the students' knowledge, understanding, and appreciation of the United States' technological trends, the Industrial Arts Department offered courses ranging from auto mechanics to technical drafting.

The diversified occupations program was expanded this year. Twenty-four boys attended regular classes for half days and worked in several Rockford industries the other half.

The courses mentioned above along with wood shop, electronics and machine shop offered students a basic knowledge which could lead to either a vocation or a future leisure-time activity.

The Reserve Officers Training Corps was offered to boys interested in military training as an alternative for regular physical education. Military strategy, drill and riflery were all a part of the program.

Safety education, required for all sophomores, taught laws and principles of car and home safety. All students were required to turn in a notebook of newspaper clippings.

Driver's education offered students behind-the-wheel training. The first step was working in simulated driving conditions in the training van. From there students progressed to actual driving in the cars donated to East by local dealers.

Courses in the Home Economics Department prepared the students for a family-centered career—homemaking.

A basic home economics class was offered as an introductory course. It covered a wide range of topics. Fabrics and diet were studied in the clothing and foods class.

The importance of the family, how to manage a home in the best interests of the family, and housing and interior design were also studied in courses offered.

Bonnie Olman and Kathy Barrett discuss china and table settings as a part of their home management class.

Gaining physical skills and developing interests which can be used after school years were the main objectives of boys and girls physical education at East.

Keeping abreast of modern trends in physical education, the girls' volleyball teams stressed "Power Volleyball," which utilized a powerful overhand serve and the under-arm return known as the "dig."

Daily routines of exercise were included in most classes. Among the sports the girls participated in were volleyball, basketball, field hockey, archery and speedaway.

Boys played football and basketball and participated in wrestling and track.

For two days during January, all the gym classes each hour met together for a program of trampoline and wrestling. Miss Judi Ford, who was then competing for a position on the United States trampoline team, presented several routines. Two members of the East wrestling team then demonstrated wrestling techniques.

Junior health classes stressed basic first-aid training. Seniors studied mental health.

Seniors who are not going to college could take the GATB test in early November.

The Counselors at East performed a variety of tasks throughout the week. Among these were helping students plan their subjects and aiding them in choosing a college, a vocational school or a job.

In addition to these duties, the counselors helped administer college board examinations like the PSAT, the SAT, the ACT and the National Merit Scholarship test. This year for the first time, East offered the GATB, a test of vocational skills for non college-bound students.

Counselors also helped the class officers prepare for class activities such as Homecoming floats and class parties and proms.

To help relieve overcrowding at East this year, seventh hour study halls were eliminated. Students could instead leave the building, or they could use the library for extra study. Some other study halls during the day were supervised by Mrs. Frances Regan and Mrs. Margaret Watlington.

Mrs. Norma Guzzardo's reading classes met in the foyer of the Little Theater. Students used special equipment to increase their comprehension skills and speed.

School nurse Mrs. Edna Welker handled minor emergencies each day. She also aided East's handicapped students who ate lunch and often studied in her outer office.

The cafeteria is used as a study hall five periods of the day under the supervision of faculty members.

Registrar Miss Bernice Mullin, bookkeeper Mrs. Eleanor Borden, and clerk Mrs. Evelyn Brazzell keep records and do necessary typing. Mrs. Sonya Walters, who is absent from the picture, also works in the office.

Behind the scenes each school day were the members of the non-teaching staffs at East. These people did the office tasks, the cafeteria work and the custodial chores.

The cafeteria staff began early each morning to prepare a wide variety of foods for the many E-Rabs who wanted to buy their lunch, or part of it. Besides the regular meals, the cafeteria offered separate side dishes such as salads and desserts.

The office staff did the daily office work necessary to the smooth running of a large high school like East. Keeping student records up to date, preparing daily announcement bulletins and sending transcripts to colleges were only a few of their duties.

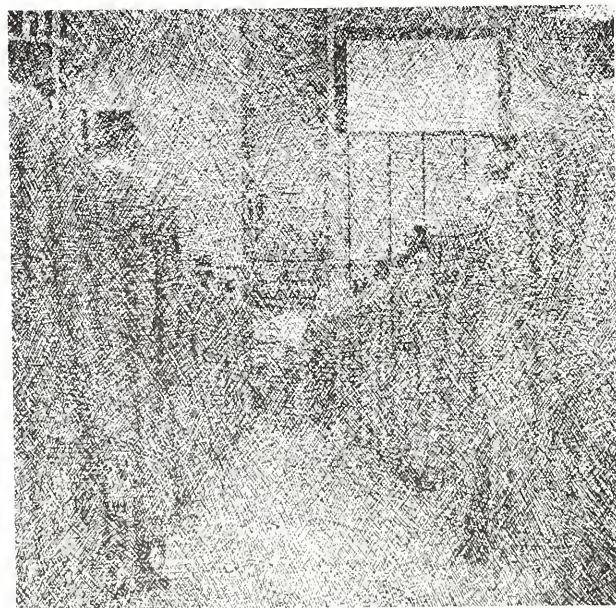

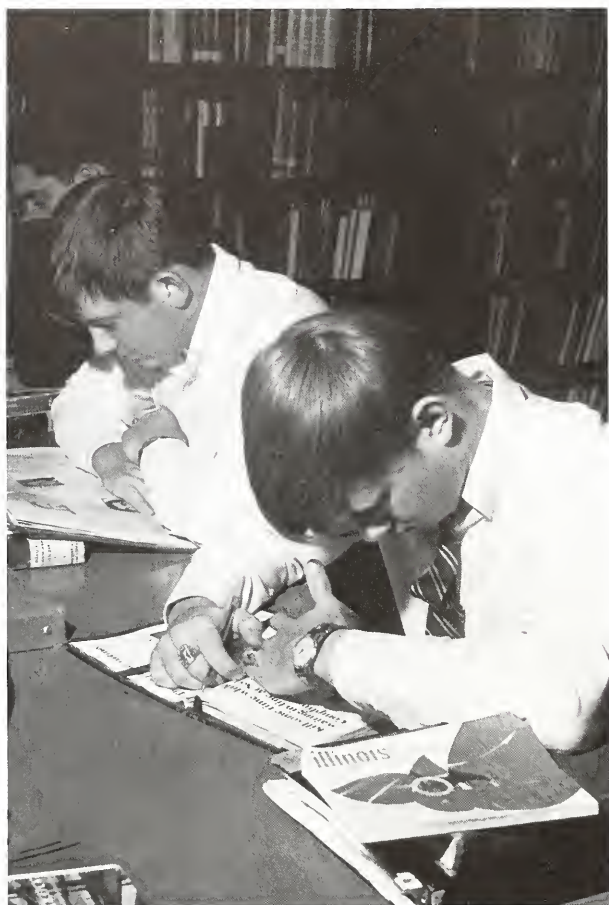

Some of the custodial staff, which worked in shifts, came early in the morning to start up the heat in the building. Others stayed late after school to clean up the litter of a normal school day.

Sophomores, Are You

With the Rablets on their way to an undefeated season and a Big 8 title, fullback Brad Lofgren checks last minute instructions with sophomore coach Ben Compagnoni during the West game.

Leaving their first class meeting are sophomore officers Marsha Johnson, treasurer; John Hagney, president; Vickie Butterfield, vice-president; and Lori Johnson, secretary.

with Us?

A sophomore is the youngest the most timid and the most bewildered.

From the familiarity of a ninth grader to the insecurity of a sophomore is a confusing and often frustrating transition.

The everyday routine of classes helps the sophomore readily adjust. By joining clubs and by participating in sports and social functions, he joins the Rab Adventure.

At the beginning of the year when the powerful varsity cheerleaders ask "Sophomore, are you with us!" his faltering answer echoes back. Less than nine months later an obvious change has taken place, and his confident reply is "Yeah man!"

Confused sophomores-to-be look for seats at the annual Sophomore Orientation held on September 5.

Juniors, Are You

Climbing over classmates and books, juniors try to find seats before a pep assembly.

Helping to decorate the gym for Homecoming are Junior Class officers Nancee Miller, vice-president; Marcia Lyddon, treasurer; Vickie Borcherts, secretary, and Edwin Anderson, president.

with Us?

A junior is adaptable
well-adjusted and easy-going.

Another school year for the junior evolves around a familiar setting, old acquaintances, new friends and greater status.

The junior learns to cope with more adult situations; he is given added responsibilities. He may participate with the varsity athletic teams. He works on the school paper. His influence is felt and his voice is strong in the Rab Adventure.

Throughout the year the cheerleaders call to him, "Junior, are you with us?" and the junior's response rings out clearly, "Yeah man!"

Yeah Man!

Seniors, Are You

Awaiting the twenty-eighth annual Baccalaureate ceremony, Gayle Johnson eases her tired feet.

Senior Class officers Lyn Traff, secretary; Maggie Worland, vice-president; Linda Fosse, treasurer; and Carl Cacciatore, president, choose a Christmas tree for the main lobby.

with Us?

A senior is the oldest the wisest
and the most highly esteemed.

The senior has attained the most coveted class position. This is a year of scholastic, athletic and social achievement. This is a year highlighted by recognition.

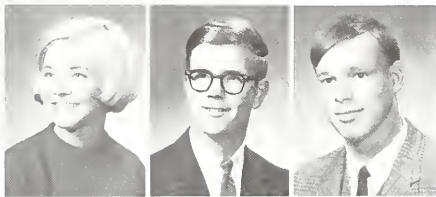

The senior is filled with conflicting emotions—determination and fear. He is preparing to leave the Rab Adventure and to meet the world on the adult level.

The call of the cheerleaders comes for the last time, "Senior, are you with us?" With a spirited voice he roars back, "Yeah man!"

At the annual senior mixer, "Shirttail Shindig," Pat McStravick, Gayle Johnson, Nancy Johnson and June Nelson swing their partners to the lively music.

Congratulations, June Graduates —

... special congratulations, because you had the good judgement to complete your high school training.

Some of you will choose to start your working careers at Barber-Colman Company. We welcome you — with friendship and an understanding of how it feels to be new at this business of seriously making a living.

Technological, economic, and social change and improvement are perpetual motion in our Country. At Barber-Colman, we try to provide a climate that helps you to continue the growth you have started with your formal education, so you (and we) can keep pace with progress.

After your formal Commencement, come and discuss commencing with us. Let's keep on growing.

— our first book of 20 checks provided

Open your own LOW-COST CHECKING ACCOUNT at the AMERICAN BANK

A Low-Cost Checking Account will help teach you how to manage your money. It will give you an accurate record of expenditures. And your canceled checks will be legal receipts for bills paid. If you go to work, you'll find a Low-Cost Checking Account a real convenience. If you go to college, you can use your checking account for buying books, supplies, paying board and room . . . even tuition. Your first book of 20 checks is provided FREE . . . after that you pay only $2.00 for each additional book of 20 checks. Your name is imprinted on each check. Just a small deposit opens your account, and there's no minimum balance required. Any American Bank officer will be glad to help you open your Low-Cost Checking Account. Stop in soon.

AT W. F. & JOHN BARNES

A good future is waiting for you at Barnes—right now! Promising careers in both office and plant operations for young men and women are here.

SENIORS. After graduation—what? If college is not on your schedule, Barnes can provide you with excellent training for a highly-skilled, permanent career—and you can earn good money at the same time. Benefits include tuition refunds, paid holidays and vacations, hospitalization, life insurance, and sports programs.

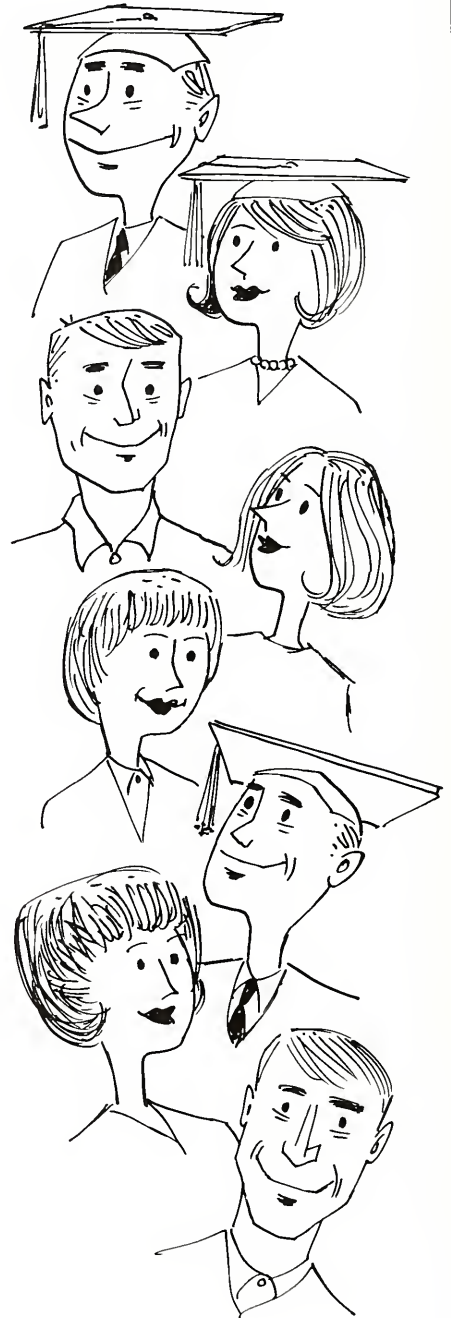

JUNIORS. Get a head-start on a career during your senior year. Barnes offers many opportunities to develop much-needed, specialized, industrial skills through a cooperative program for technical education. Work half days and attend school half days. You can earn good wages through your senior year—too.

W. F. & John Barnes manufactures machine tools, production machinery and controls. Custom machining of nuclear hardware and other special parts is also a large part of our business.

Call our employment office today for an appointment.

To Mr. Mike Gardner of the American Yearbook Company, Mr. Jerry Wernick of Wernick Studio, Rockford Newspapers Inc., Dan Youngberg and the faculty and staff of East go sincere thanks from the entire yearbook staff for their help in the production of the 1968 ARGUS.

Tom Hannah attempts to block Mr. Bob Pellant's drive as players Glenn Miller, Mr. Carl Willy, Mr. Art Boyer and Dave Rosene watch the action during the AFS R-Club Faculty Basketball Game. The faculty remains undefeated.

Balmy weather, warm classrooms, a Rab is restless . . .
the past year is vivid in his mind
the year to come, unsure;
in pensive moments
he considers new friends, fresh experiences, novel ideas, uncertain visions—
as a member,
as an individual,
as a Rab—
anticipating . . .

A NEW ADVENTURE
